

Unconscious Bias in the SETT Workplace: We are all biased – now what?

Unconscious Bias is part of being human. Learning to understand your own bias, the bias in your organizational culture and the bias of others is critical to appreciating the impact unconscious bias has and how you can work to disrupt it – within yourself and your organization.

This Online Special Topic will be led by a professional WinSETT facilitator and will include discussion, self-reflection, and experience-based learning.

The Unconscious Bias online session will enable participants to:

- Better understand Unconscious Bias
- Realize the impact of Unconscious Bias, especially on women in SETT
- Be able to apply strategies and tools to disrupt unconscious bias in your workplace

This online learning opportunity is limited to 25 early career SETT participants (all genders).

It is made possible with the support of the NL Workforce Innovation Centre.